Litchfield National Park

Litchfield National Park is a must see if you're in the Top End. It's home to several stunning waterfalls that cascade into crystal clear pools, intriguing magnetic termite mounds and clusters of weathered sandstone pillars at the Lost City.

Swimming under the falls and relaxing in waterholes is a favourite pastime for visitors and locals alike. It is a popular day tour destination although many visitors choose to stay overnight in one of the many available camping areas. There are also a number of short bush walks, challenging 4WD tracks and the 39 km hike around the Tabletop Track.

The 1500 sq km Park is important to the Koongurrukun, Mak Mak Marranunggu, Werat and Warray Aboriginal people, who believe their ancestral spirits, formed the landscape, plants and animals that you see in the Park today.

IMPORTANT INFO

- Pets are not permitted in the Park.
- Generators cannot be used in the Park.

Litchfield National Park is an ancient landscape shaped by water. It features numerous stunning waterfalls which cascade from the sandstone plateau of the Tabletop Range.

The Park covers approximately 1500 sq km and contains representative examples of most of the Top End's natural habitats.

Intriguing magnetic termite mounds, historical sites and the weathered sandstone pillars of the Lost City are a must for visitors. Whilst shady monsoon forest walks provide retreats from the heat of the day.

Aboriginal people have lived throughout the area for thousands of years. It is important to the Koongurrukun, Mak Mak Marranunggu, Werat and Warray Aboriginal people whose Ancestral Spirits formed the landscape, plants and animals and are still present in the landscape today.

Access (see map)

The Park is about 120 km south-west of Darwin, on sealed roads via Batchelor. In the dry season it is also possible to get to the Park via Cox Peninsula Road (some unsealed sections) and the Daly River Road (4WD).

When to Visit

This Park is spectacular at any time. The falls flow year round and are most spectacular in the wet and early dry season.
